Babble — Babble is the only voice privacy device currently on the market that offers voice confidentiality during a phone conversation. Babble accomplishes this by using a pre-recorded script of the user's voice, which is "babbled" and emitted from proprietary speakers positioned outward from the user. The "babbled" voice provides cover, making a phone conversation unintelligible to individuals surrounding the user. Babble "babbles" the user's voice keeping private phone conversations private.
